AGREEMENT FOR PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES AND INFORMED CONSENT

Welcome to Birmingham Anxiety and Trauma Therapy (BATT)! This document contains important information about our professional services and business policies. Please read it carefully and jot down any questions that you might have so that we can discuss them. Once you sign this, it will constitute a binding agreement between us.

ABOUT YOUR THERAPIST

Our therapists have extensive training in their areas of expertise. They know what the latest research says about the most successful approaches to your challenges. We pride ourselves on being readily available to you while you are in therapy, but we want to create a relationship that lasts longer than simply making your symptoms go away. We want to help you navigate toward a greater quality of life. We don't want to "fix" then "free you" – we want to remain a resource to you in the future as well. Research shows that up to 68% of the success in therapy is due to the fit between therapist and patient. It is important for us to give you the right therapist to fit your therapeutic needs. We want to make it as comfortable and easy as possible to engage in therapy. Your therapist will thoroughly review your intake form with you in order to get the most complete picture of 'what it is like to be you.' If additional info is needed, they may recommend some diagnostic testing and will be happy to arrange that for you. We want to build a warm, trusting, and collaborative relationship with each of our patients. We appreciate and value your uniqueness, so we design a treatment plan with your stated goals in mind.

PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES

Psychotherapy is not easily described in general statements. It varies depending on the personality of both the therapist and the patient and the particular problems that the patient brings. There are a number of different approaches which can be utilized to address the problems you hope to address. In order to be most successful, you will have to work both during our sessions and at home.

Psychotherapy has both benefits and risks. Risks sometimes include experiencing uncomfortable levels of feelings like sadness, guilt, anxiety, anger, frustration, loneliness or helplessness. This may also include recalling unpleasant aspects of your history. Psychotherapy has also been shown to have benefits for people who undertake it. It often leads to a significant reduction of feelings of distress, better relationships, and resolutions of specific problems. However, there are no guarantees about what will happen. If you have any questions about any of the procedures used at BATT, please discuss them with your therapist as soon as they arise: if your doubts persist, we will be happy to refer you to another therapist.

From time to time, our office sends correspondence to patients or families about developments in the practice, upcoming programs and information about the fields of psychology and education that we believe may be of value to you. If you do not wish to receive this information, please let us know. Also, at any time you can ask to be excluded from our mailing list by informing us by telephone or email.

MEETINGS

Our normal practice is to begin by gathering information (often called "intake"), which lasts from one to three sessions. During this time, you and your therapist can decide whether there is a good patient-therapist fit in order to meet your treatment goals. After that, you and your therapist will usually schedule a 53 to 55-minute session per week or every other week at a mutually agreed upon time, although sometimes sessions will be longer or more frequent.

PROFESSIONAL FEES

Fees depend on the amount of time each session lasts. There is a $150 fee for a session that lasts 40 to 50 minutes. There is a $200 fee for a session that lasts more than 53 minutes. In addition to appointments, it is our practice to charge this amount on a prorated basis for other professional services you may require, such as report writing, attendance at meetings or consultations with other professionals that you have authorized, preparation of records, or the time required to perform any other service which you may request of your therapist (including phone calls lasting more than 15 minutes and frequent texting). Please note that insurance may not pay for phone calls or texting, and you will be sent a bill for these fees.

Reports, referral letters, and recommendation letters will be billed in 15 minute increments at $25 per 15 minutes.

Legal related services are either those ordered by a court or those for which reporting on progress to a court or court officer is expected, or cases in which a subpoena is likely. For legal related services such as depositions and court appearances, our fees are $200.00 per hour plus a $250.00 preparation fee. If services are provided any place other than our office, travel time is charged as part of our fee.

CANCELLATIONS AND MISSED APPOINTMENTS

We never purposely double-book our therapy schedules. Instead, we reserve a specific time for you to receive services. Because this time has been reserved specifically for you, we expect you to provide at least 48 hours' notice if you need to cancel or reschedule the session. Sessions without 48 hours' notice will be charged a $100 no-show fee. If you miss 3 sessions without giving us 48 hours' notice, we will assume that you no longer wish to receive any services. Your regular standing appointment may be given to someone else at that time. As explained at the time you scheduled your first appointment, a credit card on file was required in order to reserve your first appointment. It is our policy to charge a $100 no-show fee for each appointment missed. If the first appointment was attended as planned, regular insurance or self-pay fees apply. (The reservation fee is not charged if you show up for the first session.)

BILLING AND PAYMENTS

We deeply value our relationship with you! To best provide services for you and our community, BATT recognizes the following patient payment agreement. As we get started, please read each item below to ensure your understanding. For further clarification, please call our office @ 205-807-5372 or email us at info@batthelp.com

- A credit/debit card is required to be on file to secure payment for services. FOR YOUR PROTECTION AND PEACE OF MIND, YOUR CREDIT CARD INFORMATION WILL BE SECURED IN OUR ENCRYPTED SYSTEM.
- Copayment, Coinsurance, Deductible, and Self-Pay Patient Fees can be paid by cash, check or credit card. If paying by cash or check (made to "BATT"), please give that to our office manager or your therapist at the beginning of each session. If paying by credit card, your fee will be processed to your card at the end of your session.
- Missed Appointment fees will be automatically charged to your credit/debit card in accordance with the BATT Cancellation and Missed Appointment Policy.
- We appreciate your commitment to stay current on your account while we focus on serving YOU!

If your account is more than sixty days in arrears and suitable arrangements for payment have not been agreed to, I have the option of using legal means to secure payment, including collection agencies or small claims court. If such legal action is necessary, the costs of bringing that proceeding will be included in the claim. In most cases, the only information I release about a patient's treatment is the patient's name and address, the nature of the services provided, and the amount due. Please Note: There will be a $35.00 service charge for all returned checks.

INSURANCE REIMBURSEMENT

In order for us to set realistic treatment goals and priorities, it is important to evaluate what resources are available to pay for your treatment. If you have a health benefits policy, it will usually provide some coverage for mental health treatment. You are responsible for any portion of the fees not covered by your insurance company. The general process is as follows: You pay your co-pay at time of session, your services are submitted to your insurance company, and you are then billed by BATT for any costs not covered by your insurance company. Please remember that insurance is considered a method of reimbursing the patient for the fee paid to the doctor and is not a substitute for payment. Some companies pay fixed allowances for certain procedures, and others pay a percentage of the charge. Testing services are not always reimbursed. It is your responsibility to pay any deductible amount, co-insurance, or any other balance not paid by your insurance. Please remember that we try to work with insurance companies as a courtesy to you.

In many instances, we are able to look up your eligibility and benefits on websites provided by the insurance companies. However, the insurance companies clearly state that the information on the website is not a contractual agreement and that the information is subject to change without notice. Therefore, while we can give you a good idea of eligibility and benefits, we cannot be held accountable for differences between what we quote to you as your eligibility and benefits (based on the website information) and what the insurance companies actually pay on your behalf. YOU are responsible for reviewing your insurance policy statements and Explanation of Benefits.

You should carefully read the section in your insurance coverage booklet that describes mental health services. If you have questions, you should call your plan and inquire. The number for this inquiry is usually noted on the back of your insurance card at the bottom. Of course, we will provide you with whatever information we can, based on our experience and will be happy to try to assist you in deciphering the information you receive from your carrier.

Managed health care plans such as HMOs and PPOs sometimes require advance authorization before they will provide reimbursement for mental health services. These plans are often oriented towards a short term treatment approach, designed to resolve specific problems that are interfering with one's usual level of functioning. It may be necessary to seek additional approval after a certain number of sessions. In our experience, while quite a lot can be accomplished in short term therapy, many patients feel that more services are necessary after insurance benefits expire.

You should also be aware that insurance agreements may require you to authorize us to provide a clinical diagnosis, and sometimes additional clinical information such as a treatment plan or summary, or in rare cases, a copy of the entire record. This information will become part of the insurance company files, and in all probability, some of it will be computerized. All insurance companies claim to keep such information confidential, but once it is in their hands, we have no control over what they do with it. In some cases they may share the information with a national medical information data bank.

Once we have all of the information about your insurance coverage, we will discuss what we can expect to accomplish with the benefits that are available and what will happen if the insurance benefits run out before you feel ready to end our sessions. It is important to remember that you always have the right to pay for my services yourself and avoid the complexities that are described above. Please note: Insurance rarely covers forensic psychology services.

CONFIDENTIALITY

In general, the confidentiality of all communications between a patient and a psychologist is protected by law, and your therapist can only release information about your treatment to others with the written permission of the patient or his/her guardian. However, there are a number of exceptions:

In most judicial proceedings, you have the right to prevent your therapist from providing any information about your treatment. However, in some circumstances, such as child custody proceedings and proceedings in which your emotional condition is an important element, a judge may require your therapist's testimony if s/he determines that resolution of the issues before him/her demands it.

When there is a court order for your therapist's services, generally the court will expect a report of attendance and progress.

There are some situations in which your therapist is legally required to take action to protect others from harm, even though that may require revealing some information about a patient's treatment. If your therapist believes a minor, an elderly person, or a disabled person is being abused, s/he must file a report with the appropriate state agency. If your therapist believes that a patient is threatening serious bodily harm to another, s/he required to take protective actions, which may include notifying the potential victim, notifying the police, or seeking appropriate hospitalization. If a patient threatens to harm him/herself, the therapist may be required to seek hospitalization of the patient, or to contact family members or others who can help provide protection. Should such a situation occur, your therapist will make every effort to fully discuss it with you before taking any action.

Your therapist may occasionally find it helpful to consult about a case with other professionals. In these consultations, s/he will make every effort to avoid revealing the identity of any patient. The consultant is, of course, also legally bound to keep the information confidential. Unless you object, s/he will not tell you about these consultations unless s/he feels that it is important to your work together.

While this written summary of exceptions to confidentiality should prove helpful in informing you about potential problems, it is important to discuss any questions or concerns which you may have as soon as possible. As you might suspect, the laws governing these issues are quite complex and none of the therapists at BATT are attorneys. While we are happy to discuss these issues with you, should you need specific advice, formal legal consultation may be desirable.

PROFESSIONAL RECORDS

I am required to keep appropriate records of the professional services I provide, and you have the right to review your records. (For more information on this, refer to the HIPAA Privacy Statement.) However, because these records contain information that can be misinterpreted by someone who is not a mental health professional, it is my general policy to discourage patients from viewing their files. Instead, if you request, I will provide you with a treatment summary unless I believe that to do so would be emotionally damaging. If that is the case, I will be happy to forward the summary to another appropriate mental health professional who is working with you.

MINORS

If the patient is under eighteen years of age, please be aware that the law may provide the parents (in the case of divorces, the custodial parent/s) with the right to examine the patient's treatment records. I will usually provide parents only with general information on how the patient's treatment is proceeding, unless I feel that there is a high risk that the patient will seriously harm him/herself or another, in which case I will notify them of my concern. I will also provide them with updates of the patient's treatment. Before giving them any information I will discuss the matter with the patient and will do the best I can to resolve any objections the patient may have about what I am prepared to discuss.

CONTACTING ME

My contact number is 205-807-5372. I am not always immediately available by telephone, especially when I am in a session with another patient. For non-emergencies, I will make every effort to return your call on the same day you make it, including calls I receive after office hours. Otherwise, it may be the next day before I can respond to a non-emergency call. If you are difficult to reach, please leave some times when you will be available. If it is an emergency and you feel that you cannot wait for me to return your call, you should call your family physician or the emergency room at the nearest hospital and ask for the psychologist or psychiatrist on call OR CALL 911.

It is important for you to understand that we cannot guarantee confidentiality of communication by email and text. While our electronic online files are encrypted, our emails and texts are not. We certainly do our best to keep any type of communication with you private and confidential, but while you are welcome to make use of these communication tools, you do so at your own risk.

SOCIAL MEDIA

Contact between therapists and a patient via social media (Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, Instagram, Pinterest, etc.) has the potential to produce unnecessary complications that may interfere with progress in therapy. Therefore, none of the therapists or employees at BATT will respond to personal friend requests or other social media contact requests. BATT currently has a Facebook page and a Twitter page. You are welcome to view and participate on those pages.

MULTIPLE RELATIONSHIPS

I make all attempts to avoid multiple relationships in regard to my patients engaged in counseling services. A multiple relationship occurs when a psychologist/counselor is in a professional role with a person and (1) at the same time is in another role with the same person, (2) at the same time is in a relationship with a person closely associated with or related to the person with whom the psychologist has a professional relationship, or (3) promises to enter into another relationship in the future with the person or a person closely associated with or related to the person. Although some multiple relationships are unavoidable, multiple relationships have the potential to impair my objectivity and effectiveness in my role as a therapist. Therefore, I usually refrain from providing individual services to more than one member of a family. If I am providing couples therapy, please understand that the union itself is the patient, and therefore, I will not keep secrets from either member of the couple.

Notice of Policies and Practices Regarding Privacy of Health Information

THIS NOTICE DESCRIBES HOW PSYCHOLOGICAL AND MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU MAY BE USED AND DISCLOSED AND HOW YOU CAN GET ACCESS TO THIS INFORMATION. PLEASE REVIEW IT CAREFULLY.

OUR PLEDGE REGARDING HEALTH INFORMATION: This notice applies to all personal health information about you created, maintained, or gathered by Birmingham Anxiety and Trauma Therapy. We understand that psychological and medical information about you is personal. We are committed to protecting your personal health information (PHI). We create and maintain a record of services provided to you and this record may contain information from other agencies, departments, companies or entities that have referred you to the practice for services. This record is to provide you with quality services. This notice will tell you about the ways we may use and disclose health information about you. We also describe your rights and certain obligations we have regarding the use and disclosure of health information.

I. Uses and Disclosures for Treatment, Payment, and Health Care Operations

We may use or disclose your protected health information (PHI), for treatment, payment, and health care operations purposes with your consent. To help clarify these terms, here are some definitions:

- “PHI” refers to information in your health record that could identify you.
- “Treatment, Payment and Health Care Operations”
 - Treatment is when I provide, coordinate, or manage your health care and other services related to your health care. An example of treatment would be when I consult with another health care provider, such as your family physician or another doctor or therapist.
 - Payment is when I obtain reimbursement for your healthcare. Examples of payment are when I disclose your PHI to your health insurer or payment provider to obtain reimbursement for your health care or to determine eligibility, coverage, or to provide documentation of current services.
 - Health Care Operations are activities that relate to the performance and operation of the practice. Examples of health care operations are quality assessment and improvement activities, business-related matters such as audits and administrative services, and case management and care coordination.
- “Disclosure” applies to activities outside of the office, such as releasing, transferring, or providing access to information about you to other parties.
- “Use” applies only to activities within the office, such as sharing, employing, applying, utilizing, examining, and analyzing information that identifies you.

II. Uses and Disclosures Requiring Authorization

I may use or disclose PHI for purposes outside of treatment, payment, or health care operations when your appropriate authorization is obtained. An “authorization” is written permission above and beyond the general consent that permits only specific disclosures. In those instances when I am asked for information for purposes outside of treatment, payment, or health care operations, I will obtain an authorization from you before releasing this information. I will also need to obtain an authorization before releasing your Psychotherapy Notes. “Psychotherapy Notes” are notes I have made about your conversation during a private, group, joint, or family counseling session, which I have kept separate from the rest of your medical record. These notes are given a greater degree of protection than PHI.

You may revoke all such authorizations (of PHI or Psychotherapy Notes) at any time, provided each revocation is in writing. You may not revoke an authorization to the extent that (1) I have relied on that authorization or (2) if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage, law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

III. Uses and Disclosures with Neither Consent nor Authorization

I may use or disclose PHI without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

- Child Abuse – If I know or suspect that a child is abused, abandoned, or neglected by a parent, legal guardian, caregiver, or other person, the law requires that I report such knowledge or suspicion to a duly constituted authority.
- Adult and Domestic Abuse – If I have reasonable cause to believe an adult, who is unable to take care of himself or herself, has been or is being subjected to physical abuse, neglect, exploitation, sexual abuse, or emotional abuse, I must report this belief to the appropriate authorities.
- Health Oversight Activities – If the Alabama Board of Examiners in Psychology is conducting an investigation into my practice, then I am required to disclose PHI upon receipt of a subpoena from the Board.
- Judicial and Administrative Proceedings – If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about your diagnosis and treatment and the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law, and I will not release information without the written authorization of you or your legally appointed representative or a court order. The privilege does not apply when you are being provided services at the request of a third party or where services are court ordered. You will be informed in advance if this is the case.

- Serious Threat to Health or Safety – I may disclose PHI to the appropriate individuals if I believe in good faith that the disclosure is necessary to prevent or lessen a serious and imminent threat to the health or safety of you or another identifiable person(s).
- Worker's Compensation – I may disclose PHI as authorized by and to the extent necessary to comply with laws relating to worker's compensation or other similar programs, established by law, that provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness without regard to fault.

IV. Patient's Rights and Therapist's Duties

Patient's Rights:

- Right to Request Restrictions – You have the right to request restrictions on certain uses and disclosures of PHI. However, I am not required to agree to a restriction you request.
- Right to Receive Confidential Communications by Alternative Means and at Alternative Locations – You have the right to request and receive confidential communications of PHI by alternative means and at alternative locations. (For example, you may not want a family member to know that you are seeing me. On your request, we will send your bills to another address.)
- Right to Inspect and Copy – You have the right to inspect or obtain a copy (or both) of PHI in my mental health and billing records used to make decisions about you for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. I may deny your access to PHI under certain circumstances, but in some cases you may have this decision reviewed. You may inspect and copy Psychotherapy Notes unless I make a clinical determination that access would be detrimental to your health. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the request and denial process.
- Right to Amend – You have the right to request an amendment of PHI for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. I may deny your request. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the amendment process.
- Right to an Accounting of Disclosures – You generally have the right to receive an accounting of disclosures of PHI. On your request, I will discuss with you the details of the accounting process.
- Right to a Paper Copy – You have the right to obtain a paper copy of the notice from me upon request, even if you have agreed to receive the notice electronically.

Therapist's Duties:

- I am required by law to maintain the privacy of protected health information regarding you and to provide you with notice of my legal duties and privacy practices with respect to PHI.
- I reserve the right to change the privacy policies and practices described in this notice. Unless I notify you of such changes, however, I am required to abide by the terms currently in effect.

If I revise our policies and procedures, I will discuss changes with you. If you are no longer in active treatment, you may request a current copy of this Notice by either calling the office or by mail.

V. Complaints

If you are concerned that I have violated your privacy rights or you disagree with a decision I made about access to your records, you may contact the Secretary of Health and Human Services, 200 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington DC, 20201. No individual will be retaliated against for filing a complaint.

The Alabama Board of Examiners in Psychology may be contacted via 660 Adams Avenue, Suite 360; Montgomery, Alabama 36104. No individual will be retaliated against for filing a complaint.

VI. Effective Date, Restrictions, and Changes to Privacy Policy
